[Editor's note: I have rounded off and added to many sentences for clarification].

[00:00:04.340] - Reiner

A warm welcome to you. Yes, my dears. Today again a new contribution, a new programme from me, and I am particularly pleased. I have my friend Jakob with me. We have known each other for many years now. He has been with me several times at congresses, and I am particularly pleased.

Dear Frank, great that you accepted my invitation. I have been following you for about a year. Tell me, you've opened up a real barrel with Looking Glass. I also look at other channels to see what's being talked about. So the topic of the different timelines, Looking Glass, really made waves again.

A lot of people are reporting about it, and I've been following your work for a while, and I've watched your TV. You've already been to Northern Germany, and you're doing something in yoga. So one can already feel it with you, dear Frank. You're really going full throttle and you were also over it in America. I always watch the reality check you're doing with Peter Boyles with great interest.

I think it's just great the way you two work together, because then science, but also the spiritual component are always brought together. And I think that's great, because it works that way.

Yes, dear Frank, I would just be happy if we just jumped in. You are on the road a lot. Why don't you bring us up to speed and tell us the latest. What new insights you have gathered at the moment? Through your many journeys – as in the past, you were now in America, you are going again later, you can report on it yourself, you are invited to more congresses, that means you are very much in demand at the moment. And as I also hear, you also do many interviews on the American continent, where people invite you, where you have also addressed the topic.

And yes, let's just hear what new findings there are. Yes, first of all, welcome.

[00:02:25.280] - Frank

Thank you Reiner. Always nice to be with you and talk to you. Yeah, so lately, right.

I've been on the road a lot, a lot. You could say the whole first half year was divided up in such a way that I travelled back and forth between Germany and the USA and visited various congresses.

I was invited as a cinema speaker and was present at some very big congresses, which actually only speaks to the fact that the topics that I have been working on since last year, as you already mentioned, have met with a very great response, internationally.

So that's just the way it is, really on both sides. There is a lot of interest. On the one hand of course, because of Looking Glass, this term alone and this concept of a technology that can look into time lines. This is of course very fascinating because it is on the border of science fiction. And science fiction is a very famous and popular genre. And apart from that, it is natural that many people are interested in it.

The concept of "Looking Glass"

But, as we know, Looking Glass is not science fiction, it is a fact.

And there's the other issue. I think that it's connected with Looking Glass. Very closely I have already talked about the timelines. I think a lot of people can begin to understand how a concept like "timelines", which is normally found in quantum physics, is also becoming part of scientific expression.

But I think everybody can kind of understand now that we actually activate by our consciousness, by our actions, a certain timeline. With respect to the timelines, and this is the exceptional thing with the Looking Glass, there have been various whistleblowers who have been published and who have come forward. They have given us a bit of a glimpse into this technology, and they have always talked about "events" that are coming up in the near future, and that will determine which direction humanity will eventually take, and in which timeline they will eventually enter. A lot of what is happening in the world right now plays a big role in this.

From analogue to digital – projected onto timelines

And not only what is happening or what is happening around us. The big topic at the moment is really the change from a rather analogue world, if you want to describe it that way, to a digital world. And this change has been going on for four decades, you could say.

I was a musician in the 80s, 90s, that's when it started, from records to CDs and from tape recordings to digital recordings, and analogue films that are now stored on digital medium cards. Everything is changing to digital.

But it has much more important meanings, because these are still harmless aspects of digitalisation. These are "weak digitalisations", you could say, so it can serve ourselves. But a "strong digitalisation" is about how you relate it to artificial intelligence (AI). A strong AI means something completely different, and that is the difference. And that is what is happening right now in society.

We are moving from digitalisation to AI. From a weak AI, even with things that can just help us and stand by us and make it much easier, we are now moving into a strong AI. That would be a world where AI doesn't only play an incidental role, but actually takes on the leading role in society.

And there it remains, in principle, and this is why it has to do with timelines, that we understand and comprehend that this AI world represents a certain timeline, which is therefore formed, and contrasts with another timeline, which is more related to our nature, our biology. Let's say our analogue world.

These two worlds, they are in a dance with each other right now. That's why I say we are on at least two consensus timelines right now.

Many people believe that one day the timelines will split. And we'll have the good, cool people go on one and the bad people will go on the other. And I say no, it's not like that, we're already on two timelines, and that's what a lot of people just don't really understand.

And that's why I've been on this tour in Northern Germany and also in Southern Germany, in Bavaria and in America. And these are these explosive topics that very few people really have a great idea about or an understanding of the serious significance of the actions and the "events" and the facts around us on this future.

So, that was a lot.

Timeline Sensing

Ah, I can absolutely agree with you there. I really feel it too and a lot of people come to me for sessions. So it has also increased enormously.

Yes, that's how things work.

Ah, I'm not surprised about anything. Often the black military helicopters are over my trainers. Flying low, I haven't had that for a long time.

Things are going to happen. Among other things, crazy things.

But I can explain it like this. It has to do with your work, because of course they focus on you. That's quite clear. And because of your fame, what you do in terms of enlightenment looks good. And of course the other side doesn't think it's so great. But I can absolutely confirm that from my side.

I also notice that I have already given interviews about it. For example, I've been feeling for a year that I'm also fully on the other time line, and more and more people are coming. I would also confirm that they sometimes have the feeling that they can no longer perceive their fellow human beings properly at the moment.

Timeline separation?

I can confirm this now from a scientific point of view. I can only speak for myself, what I perceive from intuitive perception. And on 21 April, after these hybrid solar eclipses, I received another vision, also from Mother Gaia, that we can now slowly detach ourselves more and more from the 3D plane with our subtle body, the mental body.

But I always say that this is a process that is now getting underway. I am directing it, and the process will continue until 2030-31, when we can work on ourselves. It is now a slow process where more and more is coming. And it is interesting in this context that more and more clairvoyant people are saying the same thing, that more and more feel that the time lines are really drifting apart now, that people are only clinging to the old system. But they will have more and more difficulties in the future and people will be more and more open to the new energy.

Therefore, billions secure my space behind me who are in harmony with Mother Earth, for the benefit of Mother Earth, for the benefit of all fellow human beings. They will be challenged by the spiritual guidance and then, of course, exactly the other time line, as you have already said, by Klaus Schwab, into dehumanisation, into digitalisation.

And I would like to ask you, what do you know about that? You briefly touched on digitalisation at the beginning, what is going on in the background? What are your new insights there?

More details about the transhumanist agenda

[00:11:57.700] - Frank

Yes digitalisation has a lot to do with just this new worldview that is being shaped by the WWF. Yes, if we look at this slide, for example, there are a few current things that are mixed with things that go back to 2020-21.

You can already see here at the World Economic Forum that there are already hints that the path to this digital world cannot go slowly, but must be triggered, ideally by a shock from someone.

So at the top right you see such headlines where Klaus Schwab is given the yes. It is quite clear that this transformation must not proceed too slowly, but must really happen with a shock.

And one wonders what kind of shock that could be.

And this is online in their own forums. You can download such white papers there. There are three ways in which one could accelerate a digitally-led "recovery", i.e. a reconstruction.

What kind of reconstruction? Where and what are they actually talking about? When you read it like this, you wonder, what is really there?

The new currency – insisting on a biometric ID

And this one has to do with them trying to get us into a new digital currency. And that can only happen if the old currency goes bust.

Yes, and that's why you see in the top left, "Canada Partners With WEF". And who's there? Dear Justin Trudeau up there. He can hardly wait until Canada has a link between the digital ID, identification, ID, and your very own biometric ID. And that's it and that's what this article is about.

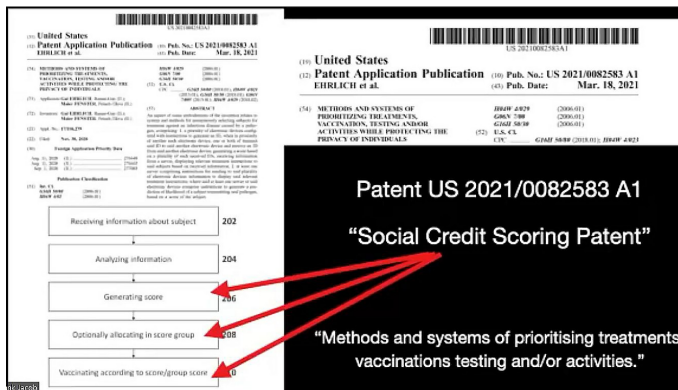

That is, you want to link us to this digital database, us in the sense of our biometric ID. That means that in the future, if they have their way, or may perhaps have their way, or will indeed have their way – depending on how things develop in the coming days, months and years – they will abolish cash. And without cash they would then have complete control, with the abolition of cash. Cash actually represents the last freedom for us as consumers. We can still decide now where we want to buy what, without anyone else knowing about it. That is our business. Yes, and where we go and so on.

But if that is abolished, that is, cash will no longer be valid, and you will no longer be allowed to buy anything with cash, then you will have to rely on a digital currency. And this digital currency will be attached to yourself. So it's not just that you have an account somehow, on a website, but you can link your credit card to it, and so on.

But someone could still hack that.

And that's a crucial point and why they want to link that to your biometric ID. Of course, they sell it all as the "great security of the future". There are so many terrorists in the world and bad people who bring bad ideas into the world. And we have to get them under control too. We can only do that if we establish the connection with your direct biometric ID through this digital currency. And then you can actually only buy things if there is money in your account.

Social credit scoring – the big catch

And the other component to this crazy thing is that you can actually score it that way. They already have patents on it with "social credit scoring". And that, I think, is the catch.

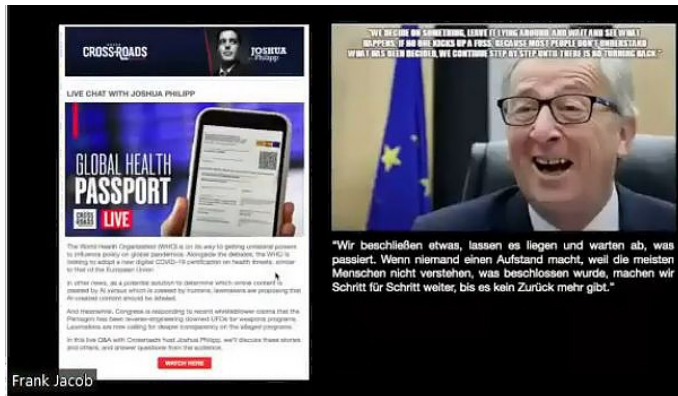

Because as you can see here, they have had a patent for a long time, where you can be divided into a group according to a "score", they call it, and that is the "social credit". If you do good things, which they define as "good", that is, if you do everything that the Green Party in Germany requires, for example, then you are a super person and then you get a certain classification. And this classification can then decide which vaccination quota you will end up in.

In other words, if you're really great, Reiner, and you do everything that Lisa Baerbock wants, or Scholl, or whatever their names are, then maybe it's like this: as a special gift, you only have to get vaccinated once a year. But if you're actually such a dangerous guy as someone who's out there bleating and enlightening all the time and reporting on what they present as conspiracies, then of course you'll be robbed of your credit score, and you'll have little money and can do little and buy little.

And besides, it could be this. If you have me as a friend, yes, you could identify that link. Then they say, "hey, Reiner, don't you know that Frank is such a bad guy? If you meet him somewhere, then unfortunately we have to deduct a few social credit points. Then you won't be able to go to a concert or eat a hamburger next week.

Yes, and what will happen in society then? This will spontaneously restructure groups. Guys, we've seen it already. Covid was a big test of how people felt excluded, for one thing. And those who were in favour of it said, "all those who don't take part are terrorists". Really?

Yes. So, porters and white people, all bankers, etc.

Exactly. And I think that's one of the most important issues in the world right now. So if we don't get this right, then they're going to get on with their programme.

I have a great quote from someone we all know who is with the EU. He says, "That's how it works. Reiner."

They say, "We decide something, okay, leave it and wait and see what happens. If somebody makes a fuss because most people don't understand what's been decided, we go on step by step until there's no turning back."

Yes, and what I'm showing on the left, that was of course a controversial issue, this global health passport. And that's on the table at the moment at the EU and that the dear von der Leyen, Uschi, yes she wants, that she's burning to bring this passport into the world. And Europe is the leader. And if they manage to do that, it means we won't even be allowed to travel without this digital passport, the "health passport".

What is really "health"?

And what is "health"? That is what you are telling us.

Health is like us. They've tested it all, and they tell us everything. And that's one of the things I often show in my lectures. They no longer hide or conceal themselves with these statements. They tell us in no uncertain terms what is going on right now. And if we don't do anything about it, if we don't step up and say, "Hey guys, the limit is here", then they will creep in this programme and they will distract us all the time, of course, so that we don't do that.

And here's another factor. Here comes this "MetaVerse". A lot of young people already know about it, they are really looking forward to this MetaVerse. What is it? MetaVerse is a world where you no longer have to move through the internet in the old-fashioned way with a click and a mouse and a keyboard, but you pull up a virtual, generated virtual world with a generating device, a pair of glasses or something, as you see here.

And then you actually step into a kind of 3D holographic world. And in that world you can perform all your actions, everything from meeting friends, going to the cinema to exactly what you buy. Yes, your business.

On the right you see the Apple version that was released last month, or this month I think. And there you can buy the "state of the art" glasses for €3,500, and then you're sort of deeply embedded in that world. And people find that cool, of course, they find that sexy, especially the young people. They see no problem at all. They can hardly wait for that to happen.

And that's kind of a distraction that we have to be mindful of, because they're going to use all kinds of tricks to lure us into this new digital, borderless world, as they want to describe it. And then they will have done it. With this money, with this account, with this biometric ID and the abolition of cash, then it's really over for biological, analogue humanity, I would say.

[00:21:32.010] – Reiner

Soulless biorobots

That's exactly why it's so important that we really create our free spaces, and events like this are always important, where possible "soul people" still gather. It is becoming more and more noticeable. Many people also tell me that some of the people who hang around simply function like "soulless biorobots".

More than 20 years ago I received a message from the spiritual world. At that time I was still close to Jan van Helsing and we had a healer. She recognised my mediumship and revealed what was meant and organized sessions. In 2000 I already understood that, that more than 80% are actually soulless biorobots who are virtually just running programmes.

And at that time I somehow couldn't believe it. And I thought, before I go completely crazy, I asked again and said, "Well, if you are my friends, then I expect an honest answer. That can't be. I'm making it all up!" "No, no!" came the answer.

And for many years I really tried to find other sources, and I found them several times. For example, in the 1960s, there was already a meditation peace circle under scientific supervision, where writing mediums received messages from the spiritual world. Back then in the 60s, more than 60% were anti-human. Anti-human is a biorobot. At the same time Anastasia, a very well-known medium from the Taiga, from Russia. There are ten volumes. And the grandfather Oton gave exactly the same information: 80-85% were biorobots running around.

I then always tried to explain it through my lectures in this way, the way we imagine them. Of course, they are people like you and me, but they no longer have the connection to this inner being, this heart's desire that connects us with creation.

Yes, and that's becoming more and more, for those running around, in the end.

Back to the transhumanist agenda, and what we're seeing now

It really boils down to that, and that's where we are in the next topic. It comes down to this transhumanism, how they are manipulating us in the blood, how they are doing the same with mind control, these are heavily charged topics, you don't need to talk more about it, but things are really happening.

And what you have already described, yes, with the whole digital currency system. This is already being practised on a grand scale in China. And we can only hope to really give us our power. We now, really now, have the opportunity to recognise again that we ourselves are creative beings. In this dystopian new world, we need to really now direct all our power and energy to it and to co-create this new world.

And the more people work on this vision, the more power it will have. And that's what I really see in the next few years. Honestly, because my main task is more and more people. That's why my channel is called "Mother Earth, Transformation Ascension", because that is really central for the time that will occupy us in the next few years.

And you know, the wonderful thing was the vision I received last year in August from Mother Gaia. A week later Dieter Broers and Ropa Zakiska Bea (?) made a programme about it. It was confirmed by the scientific side that it was measurable, what looked like what came from the centre of our galaxy. Now these mesa rays

(?) are firing the earth. And now, of all times, the Earth's magnetic field is degrading more and more.

These are all not coincidences, but enable us collectively as human beings. I say everyone chooses themselves with it. There is no outside world. If one is on the frequency of the new earth, one will detach oneself piece by piece from this old 3D matrix.

I am really convinced that what will happen in the next few years, in this year and in what we will experience until 2030. It will really go down in the annals of history because more and more people feel that the separation is coming. And more and more feel to recognise that it is not yet directly tangible. But somehow people who are empathetic, who are emotional people, who feel that something really, really big is coming.

What else can you tell us from your latest findings on transhumanism? How they want to change the biosphere? About blood? About more control? These are just key points that you might want to touch on. Where do your latest findings come from there?

Two kinds of science

You mentioned Dieter Broers. I'm often on air with him, or we work together on films or projects, or miniseries, etc., and of course with him.

Of course I'm happy that I have access to these scientific sources through him, because that's how I'm put together. What I do is of course this: I like this spiritual side that has grown out of my youth.

But I also like to combine it with "science", of course. And there really is a "certain science". You have to say that there is a "certain science" first. That is, if you pay me enough money, then I'll tell you what you want to hear.

Yes, and then there is the "real science", where you simply deal with the facts and you try to learn more about this "matrix world", as we call it, to look behind the scenes, to somehow get a little understanding of how things work.

And that's why I deal with these deep issues – which many people in the spiritual community probably don't want to do – with these rather harder topics.

Where does this or that idea actually come from?

Because it's just something that I've become aware of. If we don't engage with the world, if we don't look around at what's really happening there, and we don't practise thought cultivation ourselves, we don't question where a thought actually comes from.

Yes, because I see these issues in America, and in the New Age scene, or even in the UFO scene.

Many people jump on the same bandwagon without questioning. Really? Where does the original source actually come from? What is the place, the original source of this thought, of this idea, or of this person? Yes, and when you do that, you don't necessarily have to get into science. But it may somehow lead back to the materialistic world.

Somewhere someone has brought out this idea, in the sense of a "New Age thought". Can you trace this back to Barbara Marx Hubbard? Could you say she had a big role in the early days of this "New Age Christ Concience", what they called it, the Christian consciousness? Yes, she was an influence.

And I did a programme with John Nolan a few months ago where we took an investigative journalism paper. I looked into the claims about who was actually behind this movement. And then we came up with actually, eventually, unfortunately very explosive facts that people like Rockefeller and Rothschild were behind some of these Think Tanks that have brought these ideas into the world that you see now as the goggles of virtual reality and so on.

José Delgado, implants, and electromagnetic mind control: Stopping the furious Bull

Jose Manuel Rodriguez Delgado (August 8, 1915 – September 15, 2010) was a Spanish professor of physiology at Yale University, famed for his research on mind control through electrical stimulation of the brain.

medicine.yale.edu/psychiatry/newsandevents/delgado.aspx

But it goes back much further than that. It even goes back to certain types of persons, like even this person (see Jose Delgado picture).

His name is Joe Delgado [corrected], and he started back in the fifties, and provided proofs in the sixties. Through a very famous experiment, he was able to show how he completely controlled a bull that was furious on the field. In this famous video you can see how a bull fighter tackles this bull. And all of a sudden the bull becomes quite passive. And Delgado was the one who figured out how to do that. And that was in the 60s.

And it means they can already use that procedure now. And I don't have the time now to present all the papers here, but from that they developed ways with which they can completely control our thoughts.

And you mentioned the 80% and 85% of zombification. These are people who have simply never questioned what is actually going on in the world. Did I learn what I learned in school? Is this a really fact? Or is this just a programme that wanted to push me into a certain mindset so that I conform to some ideas, and so that they can then build society the way they have now conceived it?

Chemtrails

But it goes even more blatant, because they have been spraying things into the atmosphere for a long time and many people have seen it. They look something like this. This was a picture I took during my trip to Hamburg last month. It was one of those streaks that went right over my head. And if you wanted to look at the sun, it looked something like this [left].

And when you question chemtrails, you are often portrayed as an aluhut-wearing conspiracy theorist.

Yes, but if you now look at the latest nanopathic studies, you see this for example: Antonetta Gatti has published a paper in which she has shown this [right]. Here you see these red spots, these are four metals, or like three metals, or four, you could say.

Uranium is just a radioactive metal.

Can it be found in our blood?

Yes, in our blood. And what does that mean?

It doesn't really mean anything other than... This is a very controversial subject. We have to be careful.

mRNA is an Operating System Technology Platform per Moderna Website

April 17, 2023. More reports have come forward demonstrating that the design of inorganic silicon in the COVID-19 vaccines is a shift, and that cells and organisms, in fact, being passed with microspore technologies in 2021 Moderna priority patented had their mRNA in a gene-silencing technology platform using software programs, called mRNA, to produce new genetic codes in human cells.

When people talk about these elements as "Beetlejuice", I always refer to it in English, these Pfizer products. Then we are actually talking about a technology that is linked to RNA.

And that's not controversial, that these new wonder drugs that are being produced in the world now are based on mRNA. And at some point, it became clear to me that it's not so much about fighting certain diseases.

Let's put it this way now. The slow infusion in our body of these particles makes it, which I have now indicated, so that one can build something from these particles in our blood – hence the keyword blood. And the proof of this is also clear again.

Here in the patents, for example, as has become clear, and which is announced on the Moderne website itself, is that the mRNA is an operating system. And these particles, this operating system, has the ability to build neuronal networks in our body.

And they start to look like this. There are some pictures, they really look like microchips. The fact that this microchip technology exists has been announced for quite some time.

And one wonders. But that sounds absolutely crazy, like science fiction? How do these nanobots, Senoba are they called, get into our blood? How can they function? It can't be that robots that are as tiny as 1 millionth and as small as 1 metre [in the picture], assemble things in our bodies?

And in fact they do.

Do medical specialists in politics know that?

You may have seen my TV with Joe, and I spoke directly to Mr Lauterbach at some point. I would like to know from Mr Lauterbach, and these other self-proclaimed scientists or politicians, what they could actually tell me more about this. They would have to know, after all, if I know.

After all, I am not a special, brilliant person. I'm just an average person, and if I can find out for myself, Reiner, then they should know too. And if they know it, then they really have no business there. Now to fill this post in politics, especially in health, then you would have to clear it for someone who actually really knows about these things.

That's actually the "New Frontier" that you can show in science here.

And when you talk about transhumanism, you're talking more often about how you're going to or want to slowly connect humans in a machine or more and more through machine augmentations to the robot world or the AI world.

As Yuval Harari tells us, one day artificial intelligence (AI) will take over and if humans cannot keep up, then humans will become extinct.

The extinction of the biological man

That's why we're talking about a kind of extinction of biological man. There are people like Elon Musk who want to create a link from the outside world to the inside world, precisely through NeuroLink.

But with these new technologies, where one has been infused very cleverly with this Pfizer technology, using modern substances, it has begun possible, without any hard drives, to download anything from your brain, your consciousness and your memory. For example, as Ray Kurzweil was the first to say, data can be embedded on a hard drive. And then that hard drive goes into a sexy robot, and then you are immortal. You are then inside this robot, because they believe you are only what exists in the material world.

They're all atheists, so they should be able to download your memory and you, so to speak, onto a hard drive, and then you could compete with the robots.

But now we don't have to do that at all, apparently with these new inventions! You can see, here for example, these are a few illustrations [last illustration above] of these neuronal networks that we have. You can see very clearly how these super information "super highways" are built on a nanoscale.

Do we know what's happening in my blood now?

But if you look closely at that picture, there's something maybe shockingly shocking, for most people, maybe. You learn that these are unvaccinated people and this is a blood picture of someone unvaccinated. That means they don't even need vaccinations anymore to spread this technology. They have managed to spread enough of the stuff into the masses that it is now being spread into the world all by itself.

That is the second, very important issue that I raise in my speeches and at these shows in general. Because people, have you become aware of what is circulating in your blood right now? And we can still do something about it? Yes, there is still something we can do. We can still do something about it. There are ways to channel this technology out of the body.

But if we don't, what's going to happen? It's not going to go away on its own.

[00:38:39.150] – Reiner

Is there a way to drain it out?

Can you get some information on how to cleanse it out? Can you?

Can the soul do it on its own and just by spiritual power? I am also increasingly noticing it. Yes, more people are reporting it, yes, many people have this question. The number is extremely high.

I can see in my own relatives that they have all been vaccinated, of course. Of course, I've also heard more and more that it can also be transmissible, even if you weren't vaccinated. Better even, can it be transmissible simply through physical contact?

Now I ask the question, the crucial question, how can we protect ourselves from it? There are possibilities, but you are aware of possibilities.

Yeah, so definitely about what you brought up.

Frequency increase

There are people who tell me that they have succeeded by raising their consciousness or by raising their frequency, or simply by raising their consciousness, and they seem to be able to prove it scientifically. And of course I haven't been able to prove it yet, but I find it very interesting, and I think that in the end there must be something to it.

Although now that everyone can rely on it, I'm not so sure that it could be done. So it's almost in the same league as saying, I'm actually just a frequency, I'm not matter, my spirit is outside time and space, and I'm going through the wall now, and I'll make it through. How many people do you know who can do that? Probably not that many, right? But you can. Yes, it can be done. Yes, you can, and you can do it.

Material processes

But in the material world, you can also take substances. For example, one can use a procedure called chelation. Here it means this: one takes about 30% of the blood out of the body, and the heavy metals are extracted.

And then the blood and its body can return to normal and you can excrete these particles out of the body.

Since about half a year ago I became aware of an American scientist, her name is Christina Rahm and she has founded "Root" products as a company, and with these products she has developed.

And you have to know, and that is also an important part. She herself was part of this Pfizer group. She worked in Pfizer, she learned and studied this mRNA technology. And she knows how it works. And she has created a series of biological products. She got out of that world and she's now creating these products where you can then eliminate it from your body.

For example, I might have a picture for one of them, it's called "Green Slate". I have a link underneath because you can't buy it directly. You have to sign up as an affiliate first, it's free, and then you can buy the products in the shop.

And if you want to do that, you will be asked for a "referral code". And through this link you can do that with the referral code "cyberhive". That's mine. You can use that and then you can try these products yourself. I think they're really great. I don't want to be a cheerleader seller, because the products are a bit expensive. But I have to say the quality is really, really top notch.

Frank's health experiences

And as you know, I've been on the road for more than a year now, among thousands of people. And my health is just fine. Clear mental attitude. I have no worries at all and I feel especially protected now that I can bring this to my consciousness. I have a good attitude. I move on a certain frequency of consciousness that perhaps vibrates a little higher than the normal zombie out there and that is somewhere between the zombies and Sei Baba or something. And that, yes, that helps, of course.

There's a lot you can do, there's a lot you can achieve and a lot you can do to exist in this world that's so toxic. I believe that the universe itself wants to make experiences through us.

Evolution of the soul

Through that our souls evolve. We carry an envelope as a human body in this matrix, and we move and learn things and have experiences, as Dieter Broers has also presented in our film "Soul Revolution". He borrowed from the work of Burkhard Heim in "The G4 Level", where everything is stored. This is the information space from which all future people and generations derive their information.

We don't start with zero, but we start with certain characteristics in our lives, and these come from this G4 framework. And that's why I think the universe, of course, doesn't necessarily want to evolve a dystopian future. It also wants to see us as human beings making this quantum leap, or let's say a great leap of consciousness. Another great leap in consciousness is yet to come. It has been predicted for a very, very long time. Yes, it will happen, it is due to us. And we have to keep reminding ourselves of that because there's enough reason to get kind of depressed.

If you look at the world, with its condition, in the world right now, it's pretty bleak and it seems like the idiots have taken over, and all the smart and clever people are being pushed aside, deported, even killed, so that the idiots can continue to drive against the wall.

But that's not the only version. And there we are back at the Looking Glass.

[00:45:16.720] - Reiner

Drama Number: Good. Closure.

What I've been meaning to ask you. When you were over in America, did you get any messages? Or did you meet the Hopi Indians? I'd be interested in hearing about that. Because that's also totally my way, what the indigenous peoples say about themselves. And I mean, you once made a hint that you received a message there?

[00:45:43.720] – Frank

The Hopi Prophecy Stone

Do you know what that is?

This is the Prophecy Stone. It is a stone for prophecies.

And this is this famous picture. You can also describe it as timelines.

A shaman brought us to this place. Not everybody is allowed to do that and you're not allowed to film it. That's why I only have a still image of it. I would have loved to record him telling us the story.

He really told beautifully what this illustration actually symbolises. And this illustration is about a story where the Third World, that is, the predecessor world, had also really slid into the abyss, almost, you could say, as we are in the world now.

And somehow a very small group, a minority of this civilisation at that time, decided to get out of this world. They have found a way to go up into the fourth world. And in the fourth world, that is then depicted here, a little bit like this. You see how you climb up here, into the Fourth World.

And in the Fourth World things develop in such a way that it sort of comes down to these two timelines. Just as I described earlier, one timeline is the nature timeline, which is connected to the Earth, and so you see a circle here in the lower area, and that's the First World War, and then you see that they've overcome that, and after that there's a plant, that is, the world has been cultivated, and then came the Second World War.

There is this semicircle, and that means that it has not yet been decided what will actually happen as a result of this Second World War.

And that's interesting, I found it particularly exciting, because I also see that the big events around us now were actually shaped by the results of the Second World War, the attitudes of society, the geopolitical situation and so on. That sounds right: everything from those two world wars, and especially the second one, has developed that way. And then right after this second semicircle there, and then you see another timeline up here.

And in this timeline there are people who have adapted to the system. That's why there's a majority. The majority are somehow always with the system. And all this was very exciting.

How the Hopis live now

But they told us that the Hopis themselves had a big meeting 30 years ago. In their own tribe, on this land where they live, they had to decide if they want to adapt to the system or if they want to go back to their original ways. And out of that it happened again that a small minority decided, 10%, to keep the original way and the big majority decided to join the "system".

A lot of people think very highly of the Hopis. But I can tell you, it was tragic.

When I was driving around there in the car, and partly I was allowed to film and I had the camera on and I could see how they really live. It is so extreme. On one side of the street you see brand new big houses with swimming pools and SUVs. Everything is very modern, and on the other side there are almost only cardboard houses. They really live in the worst condition. Every month they get money from the U.S. government.

And what do they do with the money? And that's the other big problem. So when you look at the land, it's thousands of acres. Acres and acres of nothing but desert. There was nothing, hardly anything. They also found coal there, and all the water in the ground is now contaminated. The young people, they can hardly wait to get off this reservation and go to the city with their money.

And what do they do? They take heavy drugs, unfortunately, and there is a huge drug addiction problem in these Hopi tribes. So they are struggling themselves in their own country with these same issues that we all have.

Conclusion to this

[Back to the photo] And at the end you see in this drawing that there is then always this one "conduit across", there is a connection between these two timelines. And that is the possibility, of course, of the people who are connected to the system to change over and return to the natural path.

Yes, and you see that again and again. And if you go on like this on this nature path, then of course you see here, I don't know if you can recognise it, but plants and so on. It's a path that leads back to nature, where we live in a balance with Mother Earth. And then the upper line becomes kind of crazy, like it's shown here, with these lines or zigzag lines.

That means there will always be high points and low points. It then goes on like this. And the one that prevails then goes all the way around. The line then goes all the way around the stone and comes out to the other side. In other words, the great cycle closes again, and according to them we have just arrived at this point again.

But let's have some final words.

You've told all about your sentiments. You mentioned many things that are really happening, that can't be denied, with all the digitalisation, all the things that are swimming around in our blood. And so on and so forth.

But let's just put that aside for the moment. At the end of our conversation, I think is that the soul ultimately makes the decision itself, as a Hopi has now determined, with an endogenous success.

Yes, that there is also a split here. Yes, there are simply people, yes there are those, who remain loyal to the system, no matter what. They will then get this dystopian timeline where dehumanisation is pushed forward more and more.

And then there will be this other collective, and then it's our own turn. Everything is vibration. And then we will now move to the higher energy, to the higher vibration, I notice that in myself.

More perception

More and more I also have greater perception. Especially my wife. When we go for a walk with our group in the forest, there are no people. We are only in nature, in God's creation. And then for a moment we are connected with everything that surrounds us.

The separation takes place in our heads and sometimes there are such strong inspirations, visions. I think I sometimes have the feeling that I am now feeling more and more space-time. So the spaces open into higher vibration, into a higher frequency. If it's only a fraction of a second in higher vibration to perceive things that others don't perceive.

Another short statement, a short message at the end of our conversation?

[00:56:36.730] – Frank

An important message from the Looking Glass

I mentioned a little bit earlier about the Looking Glass and these messages that had a lot of resonance and I find one of those messages here. Can we take a quick final look at it, because this is something very positive that was given to us by ourselves from the future, about this time that we are going through right now.

P-52 J-Rod - Kommunikation mit unserer Zukunft...

“Die optimale Zukunftszeitlinie ist die Timeline, in der alle Probleme gelöst und nicht vermieden wurden. Die Ironie ist, dass die Timelines, in denen die großen Probleme vermieden und ignoriert oder vertuscht werden, die Timelines sind, die in ernste Probleme geraten. Um etwas Wundervolles zu schaffen, muss man aufwachen und sich an die Arbeit machen, und nicht erwarten, dass jemand oder eine spirituelle Instanz es für einen in Ordnung bringt. Aus diesem Grund wird behauptet, dass die verborgene Wahrheit unserer Situation aufgedeckt werden muss. Wenn wir als Spezies aufwachen und erkennen können, was auf dem Spiel steht, können wir den Verlauf der Zukunft, ändern.”

Yes, and that is a very, very interesting quote.

I'm going to read this on the screen in front of you for a moment. "The optimal future timeline is the timeline in which all the problems have been solved, not avoided. The irony is that the timelines where the big problems are avoided and ignored or covered up are the timelines that get into serious trouble. To create something wonderful, you have to wake up and get to work, not expect someone or some spiritual entity to fix it for you. This is why it is claimed that the hidden truth of our situation needs to be uncovered. If we as a species can wake up and realise what is at stake, we can change the course of the future."

And this is all I've been doing lately. I'm trying to explain what's at stake.

In order not give people a negative view of the world, but just follow that in the sense of, "Hey, we need to look at what's happening out there, but not in the sense that we're then going to kind of let it get us down, but we need to realise, okay, this version of the reality of the future, we don't want to have that, we don't want to invest in that, and we can be mindful of that by being aware of how much of our energy we can give to these wrong ideas or wrong-bringing ideas without powerlessness or unconsciousness."

And once we do that we start crumbling that other timeline. They need our energy to come to fruition. And then the other one that comes along. We take our energy and we direct it into a positive world. And we visualise that positive world. We visualise or we imagine what technologies there would be, what healing methods remain undiscovered or are being found to be brought back into the world, how we can bring the planet back into oneness with us.

These are all such ideas and nature is the best way where you can derive this. Because nature is really the best example of creative power that has been implemented around us. And I can only recommend people to spend as much time as possible in nature and to think about what kind of world you actually live in.

Everybody has their individual path, their individual soul path and when you realise that you can actually drop some things, then you make room for new energies, new people, new influences, new frequencies.

Exactly, exactly my theme.

[01:01:12.830] - Frank

We are actually in the process of change now and each soul decides for itself.

[01:03:45.320] - Reiner

Dear Frank, thank you for your great conversation, your great interview. See you next time.
